The Twin Falls fire department battled its second major fire in two days Thursday night, a raging blaze which caused extensive damage to Alber's Milling company, a grain feed mill at 330 Fifth avenue south. The Thursday night blaze occurred as local fire department officials still were in the process of investigating a fire Wednesday night which caused extensive damage to Jim Hart's Cameraland, 115 Main avenue west. Fire Chief L. Z. Bartlett said Friday that although they still were investigating the cause of the two blazes, apparently they started from faulty wiring.

Vogel, his wife, Maryline, and three daughters, Christine, Ann and Patricia, will live here at 29 Lynwood boulevard.

Washington Official Raps Water Compact

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 24 (UPI)—State supervisor of power resources Truman Price says that if Washington approves a proposed Columbia river compact it would result in the tail wagging the dog. Price attacked the compact proposal as being heavily weighted in favor of upstream states against Oregon and Washington. "The states of Montana, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada have more than twice the representation of the state

Baker Signed Accountant's Name on Tax

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The Internal revenue service said Thursday investigation has established that Bobby Baker signed an accountant's name to federal income tax returns he filed for 1961.

In a letter to Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D., N.C., IRS Commissioner Mortimer Caplin said Baker signed the name of Milton L. Hauff as the preparer of the returns.

One return was the individual return submitted by Baker and his wife, Dorothy. The other was the partnership return of the Carousel motel in Ocean City, Md.

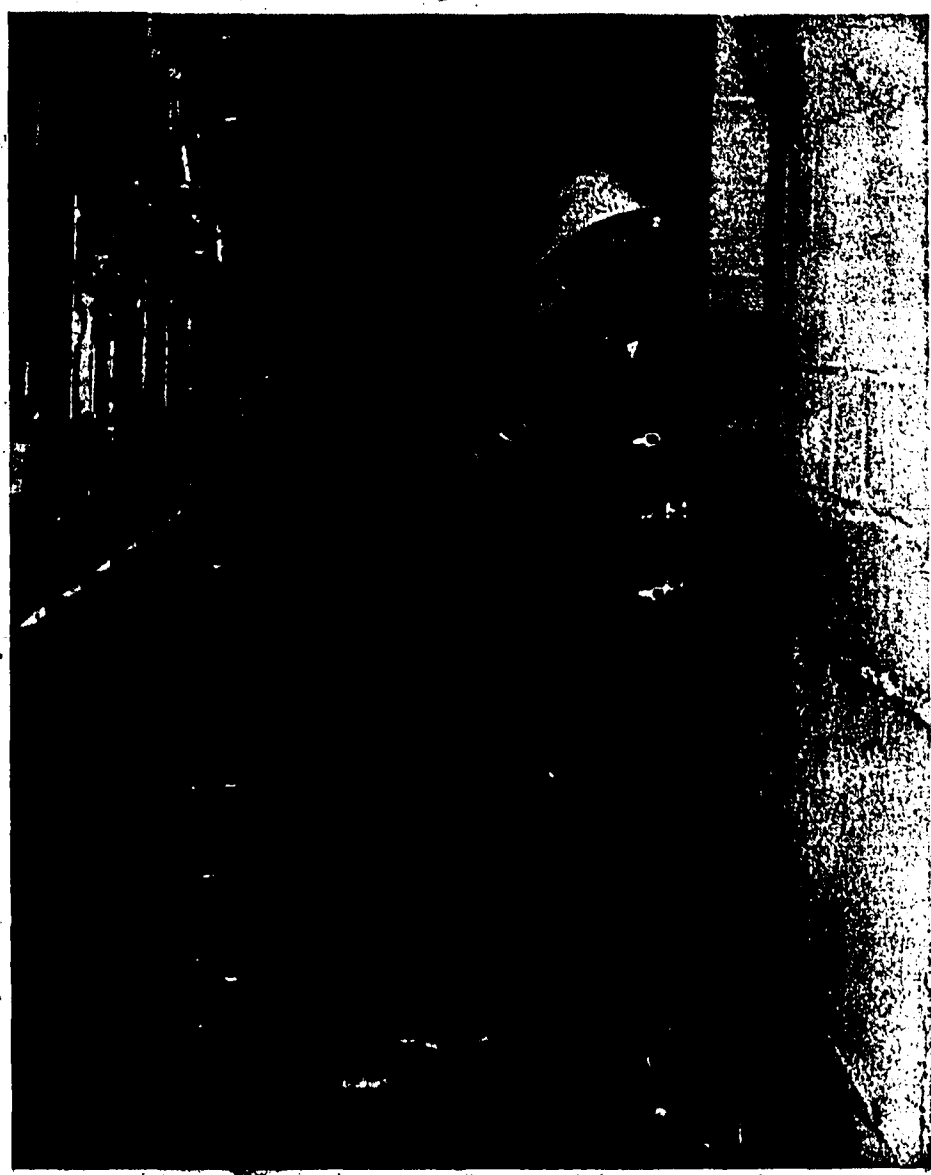

During a senate investigation of Baker, it was developed that Hauff had not actually signed the returns on file with the IRS. One of the questions raised was whether the original returns had been removed from the files and recertified.

Under the law, a taxpayer must sign his income tax form and the signature of any person who helped him prepare the document also is required. Caplin wrote that it had been established that there was no substitution of the original returns filed with the IRS but that "Mr. Baker signed Mr. Hauff's name as the preparer of the 1961 individual and partnership returns."

"These facts will be further considered by the service as they relate to Mr. Baker's tax affairs," Caplin added.

Large Eggs

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Two bantam hens which have to strain to make the weight of a pound apiece have been given what for them is a monumental task: Sit on two eggs about half their size until a couple of whooping cranes crack through.

This calls for fortitude, and that's what Patience and Petulance have been showing since Easter morning.

Whooping cranes just seem to want to disappear—there are only 39 left—but the government won't let them.

U. S. Plane Is Fired Upon In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, April 24 (UPI)—Lieut. Gen. William Westmoreland, second ranking American officer in Viet Nam, escaped injury today when communist ground fire wounded four men aboard a plane on which he was a passenger.

A U.S. military spokesman said the incident occurred at a U.S. special forces base in the extreme northern part of Viet Nam. Communists opened fire on the plane with small arms as it took off from an air strip.

Four Americans aboard, including the pilot and the copilot, were wounded slightly, along with two Vietnamese.

Westmoreland, deputy commander of the U.S. military assistance command of Viet Nam, was not hit. Alfred Hurt, deputy chief of the U.S. economic and technical aid mission here, also escaped injury, the spokesman said.

Westmoreland arrived in Viet Nam recently to become right-hand man to Gen. Paul Harkins, commander of the U.S. military assistance and advisory group.

Since November and Grange said they hope to give talks in 36 or 37 of the 44 counties in Idaho. Grange said the talks have been very successful.

The group will present talks in Gooding Tuesday night for Gooding and Camas counties; Thursday noon in Mountain Home for Elmore county and the east side of Owyhee county; and Thursday night in Nampa for Canyon county and the west side of Owyhee county.

Johnson Starts Poverty War Tour

PITTSBURGH, April 24 (UPI)—President Johnson carried his all-out war on poverty to the people today and their response brought on near mob scenes in two cities. At one point during his tour of this steel center, the chief executive abandoned the protection of his covered limousine and rode along a crowd-lined street atop the back seat of an open convertible. On Pittsburgh's south side alone, police estimated 25,000 persons were jammed along the streets. Authorities said at least 4,000 persons greeted the President earlier in the city's downtown.

After entering the convertible, the President made two more stops for what amounted to unscheduled street-rally addresses.

Using a hand amplifier, Johnson told the curbside listeners: "We came here to listen and learn. We want this to be a land where every boy and girl, regardless of how poor they are when they are born, can rise to a position of leadership."

Mrs. Johnson accompanied the President and was introduced to the south side crowd. She thanked the people for their response and said, "It's wonderful to get away from Washington and see the people who make up this land."

Earlier today in South Bend, Ind., the Johnsons were caught up in a crowd rush for nearly five minutes as he embarked on the first leg of a four-state tour in the depressed Appalachia region.

Johnson told audiences the trip would stimulate more federal aid to the jobs.

Johnson and his party flew to Pittsburgh this morning. Johnson flew by jet from Bunker Hill air force base in Indiana after meeting unemployed auto workers who are training for new careers, following shutdown of the Studebaker plant. His plane landed at the Greater Pittsburgh airport at 11:28 a. m. EST.

The crowd at South Bend broke through security lines and hundreds surrounded the Johnsons as they made their way from the helicopter.

Grange said Idaho's state tax structure should be revised by reducing the income taxes, eliminating the personal property tax, introducing a tax on retail sales and by relieving the overburdened real estate taxpayer.

He urged everyone to write his state senator and representatives, telling them that tax revision is the most important goal of the next legislature.

Grange reported, "Real estate taxes have reached the point where they are placing an ex-

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today announced 63 new actions closing or reducing 22 military bases, depots and arsenals and consolidating offices. He estimated savings at 63 million dollars a year. McNamara said slicing away at least eight unneeded facilities, scaling down 14 others, combining separate contract monitoring offices in 20 cities, and other actions would

New Bridges Impede Canal Water Flow

Two new bridges across the highline and lowline canals south of Five Points east apparently have been constructed about 18 inches too low and water cannot flow unobstructed beneath the structures. The situation was brought to light after the Twin Falls Canal company turned irrigation water into the canals and the water began rising on the structures. According to Alfred Peters, Twin Falls Canal company manager, the water backs up behind the bridges and rides about a half-foot up on the bridge stringers.

"It poses a potential problem for us," said Peters.

Farmers in the area began complaining about the situation and the Times-News contacted individual farmers and the canal company.

There are reports of petitions being circulated by farmers, but as yet just who is circulating them and why hasn't been learned.

The bid on the bridges was $45,092.

Work on them began sometime in November, and since then farmers have been demanding the reconstruction to get to town. It appears likely the decision will continue until some decision is made to correct the situation.

"At present the water mark is about a half foot up on the bridge. The bridge is just too low and it will have to be raised," said Peters.

Prime contractor on the two bridges was Nielsen-Miller Construction company, Twin Falls.

According to Ray Nielsen, the contractor has to follow plans as set out in the contract. He was of the opinion the bridges could be raised without too much cost or difficulty.

The bridge building procedure goes something like this: The local authority wishes to reconstruct certain structures and there is limited federal assistance available. However, the bureau of public roads doesn't recognize local highway districts and deals through the state department of highways.

Hoffman, Fiske and Millar was the engineering firm for the project. The state highway department was in charge of inspections and supervising construction.

A spokesman for the state highway office said, "Any comments will have to come from the county highway district."

Twin Falls county highway district Director Floyd Dayley said, "The important thing right now is to get the bridges raised and the traffic flowing. There has been an error, but we will thrash that out later."

"Plans are being redrawn to raise the bridges, and that's our main objective," said Dayley.

When asked who would pick up the bill for the additional work, Dayley replied, "I guess, for the time being, the highway district—until we have all the answers."

Writing of Rail Contract Due to Start

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Railroad management and union negotiators will meet with federal mediators at the labor department Monday to start writing a detailed contract which will formally end one of the nation's longest and most complex labor disputes.

Both sides planned a week-end recess after nearly two weeks of intensive White House talks which ended in an agreement late Wednesday, averting a nationwide strike which had been scheduled for a minute after midnight tonight.

In a White House ceremony Thursday, President Johnson congratulated the negotiators and urged both sides to "get back to the railroads and go to work" so both labor and management can prosper.

It will take about a week to draw up the contract, and no difficulties are expected. Then it will take another 10 days or so for the unions to vote their expected ratification of the contract involving wages, jobs and working conditions.

Both sides have expressed satisfaction with the pact, which roughly amounts to a trade in union financial gains for management's right to eliminate certain jobs.

Rights Bill Amendment Is Introduced

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The senate's Democratic and Republican leaders teamed up today to introduce a jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill in a partial concession to Southern opponents of the measure.

The amendment is similar to a compromise written into the 1957 Civil Rights act but goes somewhat farther in meeting the demands of the Dixie forces for jury trials in criminal contempt cases arising out of injunctions against racial discrimination.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois, introduced it for himself and Sen. Mike Mansfield, Montana, the Democratic leader.

Although President Johnson has called on the senate to pass the house bill without change, Dirksen indicated the amendment providing a limited right to jury trials had the blessing of the justice department.

The other eight actions—worth 21 million dollars a year in savings—involve unspecified installations overseas. What will happen to them was left open, pending consultation with European and Western Hemisphere governments concerned. No NATO forces are affected.

The installations to be closed in the United States include

Russia Calls U.S. Flights Dangerous

MOSCOW, April 24 (UPI)—The Soviet Union today called U. S. reconnaissance flights over Cuba illegal and dangerous and warned that they prevent an improvement of Soviet-American relations. "It is completely clear," the official government newspaper Izvestia said, "there can be no true bettering of Soviet relations at the expense of the legal interests of our friends, including the legal rights and interests of the Cuban Republic."

The government newspaper further charged the flights were an "open violation" of Cuba's sovereignty, the United Nations Charter, and generally recognized norms of international law.

"This is a most dangerous policy with a risk of new sharpening crisis in the Caribbean area," the newspaper in a lengthy article bearing the authoritative signature "Observer."

Last week President Johnson said the flights were essential to determine if new offensive missiles are being installed on Cuba. The Izvestia article was the first Soviet reaction to the President's statement.

A state department spokesman also has explained the United States considers these flights necessary since Premier Fidel Castro has vetoed on-the-spot inspection.

In Havana today it was announced that a protest note, signed by State Minister Raul Roa, had been sent to the United Nations charging that U. S. planes had overflown Cuba 590 times between October, 1962, the Cuban crisis, and last April 20.

It also said that marines at Guantanamo in the same period committed 1,181 "provocations, violations and abuses."

Cattleman Says Chain Stores Are "Rustling"

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Jack C. Tool, a Montana cattleman, told a senate hearing Thursday that "more cattle rustling is going on behind the counters of the chain stores now than ever took place on the open Western range lands."

Tools urged the senate commerce committee to approve quickly President Johnson's proposal to set up a special commission to investigate the multi-billion dollar national food industry.

The fast-talking witness from Shelby, Mont., said he is a past president and director of the Montana Cattleman's association and had lost an average of $25 a head on his Angus yearlings on two ranches last year.

Laos Leader Restores His Government

VIENTIANE, Laos, April 24 (UPI)—Neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma today accepted conditions restoring his government but leaving power in the hands of the right-wing generals who deposed him Sunday.

The agreement was seen as a face-saving compromise. The coup leaders gave in to Western and communist pressure to restore Souvanna, but at the same time retained the power to "propose and recommend" cabinet members and to "follow and watch" all government decisions.

Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, leader of the military junta, said today the generals want to cooperate with the pro-communist Pathet Lao faction, one of the three in Souvanna's coalition cabinet. The general described the pro-communists as "nationalists like us, speaking the same language."

But diplomats said it was still not clear what role the Pathet Lao would play in the new government, and whether it would accept a smaller share of the cabinet seats as the junta is believed to have proposed.

Kouprasith declined to give a clear answer on what the junta would do if the Pathet Lao refused to agree to the conditions accepted by Souvanna. The pro-communists theoretically endorsed the agreement by attending today's cabinet session.

Since 1962, Souvanna has headed an uneasy alliance of rightists, neutralists, and Pathet Lao. The right-wing generals headed by Kouprasith and Gen. Sino Lamphouthakoul overthrew this government Sunday in a "near-bloodless" coup. After pressure from both the West and the Soviet Union, they agreed Thursday to restore Souvanna.

Same Picture

There's nothing new in the Idaho Education association claim that Idaho ranks last among the states for increase of public school spending in the last 10 years. It's all part of the same picture of revenue pointed out in the Times-News by a chart printed last Dec. 18. State and local tax collections in Idaho have increased by something around 40 per cent for the decade 1953-62. Only three states rank below Idaho in percentage increase of state and local taxes, Nevada, New Hampshire and South Carolina.

It would be improbable for any state to have such a low percentage of increase in tax collections and then rank high for expenditure in any line of endeavor. Tax collections and all tax-supported functions inevitably are tied closely together.

Sometimes in the not distant future, Idaho residents must face up to the tax question. Idahoans must decide if they want to limp along with the same jerry-built tax structure or if they want progress.

Those residents of the state who are aware of the great increases in aid to education must share the reaction of Governor Smylie, who said, "It is hard to see how we can increase our effort 300 per cent and lose ground." He added the education picture serves to point up the question of how to find more revenue. "The question is not whether, but how," the governor added.

There's one group of Idahoans ready to answer the governor's question. They call themselves Idaho Citizens for Tax Reform and they've been stumping the state for months telling all who will listen what's wrong with Idaho's tax picture and how it can be corrected. William Grange, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, is one of the active speakers.

Four speakers for the tax reform group are scheduled to tell their story in Twin Falls at noon next Tuesday. Basically, it is anticipated Idaho will have to find another 18 million dollars of new revenue for the next biennium. The Tax Reform organization believes the sales tax holds the best promise for getting new funds.

Although Idaho residents have never looked with favor on a sales tax, there's plenty of reason to believe it's the best course of action now. Tourist travel through Idaho is sufficiently heavy to result in a substantial income from tourists. A general sales tax without discriminatory exemptions might be more fair than some of Idaho's taxes which are reaching the top-heavy stage.

If any relief is needed from a sales tax, it should be granted on the basis of total income only. It's recognized that a sales tax could be burdensome on some persons with low incomes, such as those on relief or retired persons living entirely from social security checks.

A sales tax also could provide some relief in present real property and income taxes, the latter being particularly obnoxious to most wage earners.

At any rate, everyone interested in tax reform would do well to attend the session at the Legion hall next Tuesday noon. These speakers are well-informed on their subject.

SURPRISE!
A couple of months ago when he was caught in the "incident of the letters," Rep. Ralph Harding issued a statement that said, among other things, that he'd have to re-examine his position, that perhaps it just wasn't worth while to hold public office. No one took the statement seriously, and sure enough, here's Harding announcing he will run for reelection. But part of the statement in his formal announcement must assume that everyone is blessed with a short and convenient memory.

"I feel that I am obligated to those who have trusted me with this high office for two terms, during which time I have built up valuable seniority, to file for reelection."

Mr. Harding can't really feel that "valuable seniority" is sufficient reason to reelect him. After all, if that's the basis for reelection, Hamer Budge should still be representing the second congressional district.

It also may be recalled that Mr. Budge, at the time he was defeated by Ralph Harding, was serving as a member of the powerful house rules committee, the only Idahoan ever to serve on that committee.

Some readers also may recall that Mr. Harding promised from one end of the district to the other that he could get approval for the Burns Creek dam. He made the Burns Creek project a battle cry, asserting Budge had been ineffective. Well, after nearly two terms in office, Mr. Harding still hasn't come close to gaining approval of the Burns Creek project.

The record is always interesting.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, April 24 — Anxious liberals among the journalistic experts are counting Goldwater out of the presidential race again because he didn't win big enough in the Illinois primary, but as usual they are premature.
Goldwater polled some 64 per cent of the Republican votes in this "heartland of conservatism," and the Barry-can't-win boys claim this wasn't enough. They point out that Charles Percy, the winning candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, topped Goldwater's total vote by more than 100,000, as if this represented total rejection of the Arizona senator.

Such thinking is neither fair nor realistic. Percy is a local boy with considerable boyish charm, who might be described as a Big Business John Kennedy. He staged an all-out campaign, seven days a week, while Goldwater, whose opposition on the ballot consisted only of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, merely went through the motions in a state he knew was in the bag for him.

WOMEN FOR WOMEN—In this house, too, there is a tendency to view with suspicion the claim that Senator Smith's 200,000-odd votes was a massive protest against Goldwater. Barry beat her, which is big enough for most politicians, but the important point is that the country is full of women who have been dying to vote female. Sure some folks voted for Maggie because they didn't like Barry, but there were Republicans who voted against a hero named like Eisenhower, too.

Percy played it cool by refusing to endorse Goldwater, but it is significant he didn't dare to disown the Arizona. His off-repeated statement that he preferred "no one above" Goldwater hardly stamped him as being all out for Nixon or Lodge or Scranton or Rockefeller. It was Percy acknowledging that Barry was hot stuff in the state.

GLAMOR BOY—To be sure, Percy won by more than 200,000 votes over State Treasurer William J. Scott, who ran as a Goldwater man, but those who see a slight to Barry in this area are downgrading Percy's personal appeal. To most Republicans, Percy not only represented success in business but he spelled glamor, a commodity that has been in short supply within the Illinois GOP. Percy looked like a winner next November, which always impresses the folks.

As the campaign points to the Republican convention in July, Barry Goldwater in a sense remains his own worst enemy. Voters who admire his candor and energy, including this one, are appalled by the impression that Barry seems to be running for prime minister in Queen Victoria's government. Yet he retains a hold, not only on the hard-core conservatives but on those who are intimidated by what they feel is an unruly liberalism among the Democrats on the civil rights issue.

"MODERATION" BUILDING UP—That surly demagogue, Alabama Gov. George Wallace, polled a quarter of a million votes in Wisconsin, whose population is only two and one-half per cent Negro. In Kansas City, a city ordinance forbidding racial discrimination in public accommodations establishments barely squeaked through by roughly 45,000-plus to 43,000-plus votes.

Goldwater is calling for "moderation" in civil rights legislation, which means he is opposed to most of it. Clearly, there is sentiment building up in the North which could mean votes for Barry Goldwater he could never get as a mere conservative.

Views of Others

KOREAN WAR REOPENED
Some of the statements attributed posthumously to the late General MacArthur are barely believable, and are being refuted right and left by military officers and statesmen named in the interviews. But there is substantiation in the reports of separate newspaper men, themselves responsible who interviewed him in 1954 and held the stories for release after his death.

The nation would much prefer to have any behind-the-scenes reports of the disastrous war in Korea directly from the hand of General MacArthur. Perhaps the papers he has left will clear up some of the conflicting testimony arising from the reporters' interviews and denials by surviving officers and statesmen.

General MacArthur was a proud man as well as a brilliant soldier. That he was humiliated and angry because his strategy for winning the war in Korea was not accepted by President Truman, who removed him from command, is not to be doubted. Yet why did he not say those things now attributed to him when he returned from Korea to a hero's welcome, or in the years since?

Perhaps his duty as an officer of the highest rank constrained him not to open a national debate on the subject of Korea. But it was not a service to the American people, if he is now quoted correctly, to have authorized release of such quotations only after his death. He is not here to reply to the denials or to elaborate on questioned statements. Obviously, a job for historians remains.—The Oregonian

BITTERSWEET OSCAR
So sensitized are Negro feelings these days that there is something bittersweet about a Negro winning an Oscar. Certainly Sidney Poitier is an actor of Academy Award caliber, and one of the things Negroes and their well-wishers want is the proper recognition of talent and achievement without regard to race. But the sweetness of the victory has the aftertaste of suspicion that he might not have won without the sentimental-charged atmosphere of today's civil rights struggle.

Yet we feel there is a net gain in the award, and not only because a Negro has for the first time won an Oscar for a starring role. In this case, the role (in "Lilies of the Field") was not the stereotypical part to which Negroes were once regularly assigned. It is a long way from the "Mammy" portrayed by Hattie McDaniel in "Gone with the Wind" when she became the first Negro to win an Oscar for a supporting role.

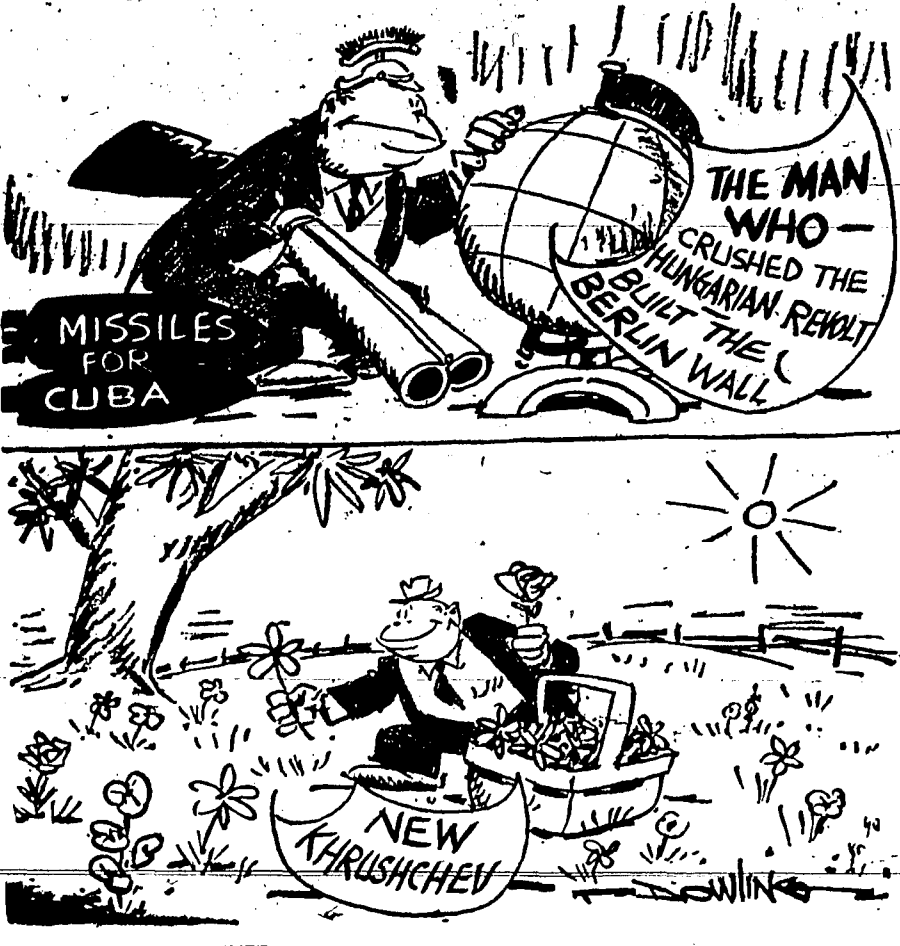

At that time Miss McDaniel, despite her acting skill, faced limited opportunities in her profession. Today Mr. Poitier already had the chance to prove his capacity in a considerable range of characterizations. His new recognition fits in with such things as TV's increasing use of Negro actors in roles where color is not an issue.

The ovation given him may have been for his race as well as his performance. But in the fumbling progress of men to see man as neither black nor white this Oscar should be more sweet than bitter.—Christian Science Monitor

Pay Your Money, Take Your Choice!

POT SHOTS

KEEPS YOU IN SHAPE

Dear Potshots:
My pet peeve is the fact that impatient people won't let my phone ring more than twice without hanging up.

First I want to tell you about "The Hazard." I am washing my hair, dripping gallons of soap suds. The telephone rings. I grab for a towel, race across the room, hit the floor in a puddle of suds like a base runner sliding for home, reach up and grab the receiver only to hear "click" near the end of the third ring.

Second is "The Handicap." I have my hands in bread dough at the stickiest, wettest stage. Telephone! What to do? No time to decide. Dough flies, hitting cupboard and walls and drips across the floor as I reach the thing on the second ring. "Hello, Hello!" Only silence.

Third: I answer a knock at the door. "Oh! excuse me please, while I answer the telephone." I sprint across the room leaping over a chair and the arm of the couch (no time to go around them) only to find I am too late in the time it takes to cross 10 paces. This one is known as "The Hurdle."

Fourth: I am working in the yard when I hear the phone. I know I have six seconds or less to make the "30-yard dash." Up in the air go hose, seeds, gloves and I take off like Man-o-War at the pistol shot. I reach the phone, just in time to hear the third ring cut in the middle. I pant for breath. I am bruised on both shoulders and sides from turning two corners, and cutting through three doors while hugging the inside track. Before the day is over someone blithely remarks, "I tried to call you but you didn't answer."

Please, please, let my phone ring 10 times, 20 times. Ten is less than half a minute. Then maybe I can reach it still breathing and without danger to life and limb.

SWING'N'SWAY
Dear Gent:
Ever follow a swing'n'sway driver down the street? It's an education. I guess they drive that way for one of two reasons (a) either they don't have any idea of the location of either side of the car or (b) they're not taking a chance of scratching the finish.

Anyway, when meeting traffic, the swing'n'sway driver swerves over to the right, but if such a driver happens to be going by a parked car or passing a car, then the swerve is way over to the left. A four-lane street is none too wide for the swing'n'sway driver — they need both of the righthand lanes to complete this complicated maneuver.

Also, this is the driver who starts a righthand turn by swinging way over to the left.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW
(Associated Press News Analyst)
WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP) — Almost 19 years of cold war skepticism and all that means in skepticism about communists, has had a freezing effect on the American mind.

The reaction to a communist move, even when it sounds peaceful, is almost predictable. Suspicion of the Soviet Union popped up immediately in congress after President Johnson announced James Marlow to an AP luncheon in New York and Premier Khrushchev disclosed in Moscow they were cutting production of material for nuclear weapons.

The suspicions went like this: "How do we know Khrushchev will keep his word? Will he let us into Russia to check to make sure? We need proof." In short, he is up to tricks?

But all this overlooks the point: In this case it doesn't matter whether he's playing tricks or not. Johnson said this country has more material for weapons than it needs.

Therefore, continuing to produce it without needing it is wasting money. Johnson put it this way: "We must not operate a WPA to build a project to produce employment when our needs have been met."

The Soviets have the same problem of overproduction of nuclear weapons material, as do the British, but Khrushchev in his announcement tried to pitch his decision on a lofty plane.

He said the cutback was an "opportunity for improving mutual understanding." The British also announced a cutback. Actually, they put the brake on last.

Either Johnson is right or wrong in his decision: If he is wrong, he may be jeopardizing the country. But it must be assumed he would not have made his decision without the advice of his military and atomic experts.

So, if he's right, it can make no difference what Khrushchev does about cutting back. If the Russians have more material than they need but keep on producing it, then they're wasting money.

Another question was raised: Is this a step toward disarmament? Johnson anticipated such a question before making his announcement and answered it as follows: "This is not disarmament. This is not a declaration of peace. But it is a hopeful sign and it is a step toward which we welcome and which we can take in hope that the world may yet, one day, live without fear of war."

In the case of disarmament the consistent American position has been that inspection would be needed, and it is easy to see why it would be needed in that case but not in Johnson's cutback decision.

If the United States and the Soviet Union for instance, agreed to destroy a certain number of missiles and nuclear warheads, this country could never be sure the Soviets were not cheating unless they permitted inspection.

Without such proof, this country would be a first-class sap to destroy a single one of its weapons. For, if that continued, it could wind up at the mercy of the fully-armed Russians.

But any disarmament agreement is a long way off. Johnson, ever since taking office, has been communicating with Khrushchev privately but reporters were told the two men's decisions were not a deal.

For the reasons explained above there didn't have to be a deal. But that probably won't stop suspicions about the whole business although it would be hard to explain why this country should produce what it did not need, no matter what the Russians did.

It's possible that moves like this one by both countries may lead to better understanding, but that's for extra.

"I fear there is much more than appears on the surface in the efforts to take religion out of public places."

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
A few thousand letters to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey might convince sponsors of the civil rights bill that at least part of the public is demanding the right to read it.

The house, when drafting this act, never held a single public hearing on it. And passage by the house was really passing the buck to the senate.

How many congressmen or senators have read carefully this document? At least this writer has done that; 55 pages of fine print already debated as utterly bewildering. And if the public ever gets so much as a glance at the spaghetti-like mass that hits the eye, the political gears could go into reverse.

Advertising analysts state that the average American is now subjected to 10,000 TV commercials a year and about 1,500 various ads a day. We've grown slogan-minded, title-minded — a people nourished on one oversimplification after another.

The title-civil rights—relates this gigantic legislation to our deepest natural feelings. But our nation is not faced by a title, or even by a good intent. We are faced by those 55 fine-print pages of a specific piece of legislation that rivals Gracie Fields' "biggest aspidochelone in the world."

There are senators of principle on each side of this debate and in both parties. But political venality is on the march, too. Whether they've read the bill or not, many in congress will tell you they're not going to vote against "civil rights" in this election year. That's not good government. And we can hope it may turn out to be not even good politics.

Militant minorities play their part in carrying us toward this legal Waterloo. But so do others, including some of our clergy, who suffer acutely from what the French call "a deformation," meaning a distortion of perspective by people whose intentions they see only what they want to find.

In their emphasis on the objectives they seldom refer to the unenforceableness of HR 7152. They are repeating the same mistake that carried our nation into tragedy in passing the well-intended but utterly unenforceable spaghetti-like mass known as the federal prohibition act.

In HR 7152 discrimination is a crime. But the bill does not define the crime of discrimination. That's a poor start for the 55 pages of fine print. A federal civil rights inspector decides who is a criminal under this act. Then the justice department, and then a court, and then one court after another decides. Will there ever be enough inspectors, lawyers, police and courts and courts to work all this out in our nation of 185 million people — and all enforced at the federal level?

In title II, in the public accommodations section, "bona fide" clubs are exempt from the criminal penalties. But HR 7152 doesn't define what a club is. A federal civil rights inspector decides which clubs are exempt and which are not — a political fixer's paradise.

Job discrimination? The same discrimination in an enterprise employing 100 people is not discrimination if it is a subcontract. Later, discrimination becomes discrimination if 99 are at work but not 49, etc., etc. After five years farmers employing 12 workers are subject to criminal penalties. Those with 24 are not discriminating. Thus the crime is in fact, not a moral matter but is judged by the number of people employed. What kind of morals is that?

A citizen accused by any inspector (how many and who would they be?) of violating HR 7152 can be charged with contempt proceedings. Yet this provision alone is so contradictory that it's already debatable whether the citizen must finally be convicted and sentenced by a jury or a single judge. And that's typical of the spaghetti-like maze.

Sponsors publicize opinions obtained from eminent legal authorities stating they think the bill is constitutional but not a single one of the cited authorities says whether he believes the giant act is enforceable.

Yet enforceableness is the fundamental requirement for good government. Justice and the respect for law without which all words about the public welfare are a tragic mockery.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Q—Every time I wore a dark blue suit I bought last year, my legs broke out with a severely itching rash. I wrote to the manufacturer and he said that the material (wool and dacron) was handled daily by many employees and worn by thousands of customers without causing any reaction. Do you think my trouble was due to the material or the dye? Is there any way I can be immunized against the cause?

A—You should have your doctor make a patch test with small samples of wool of different colors and samples of dacron as well. This should narrow the cause down to one of the materials or to a dye. If the dye is at fault, ask the manufacturer to give you a complete list of its components. Then, if possible, you should have patch tests made with pieces of white cleansing tissue to which each ingredient has been added. When you have discovered the specific cause it may be possible for your doctor to desensitize you — a tedious process at best — or you may be able to avoid further contact with the irritant.

Q—My nose is sore on the inside summer and winter, in damp weather and dry. It cracks and never stays healed longer than two or three days a time. What can I do to heal it? A—The nose bridges and bleeds easily. Its mucous lining is very thin and covers a dense network of blood vessels. Removing hard crusts can easily cause cracking and slight bleeding. If hard crusts are a part of your trouble, you should keep the lining membranes softened with a thin coating of petroleum jelly. If this does not help, have your doctor see whether you have a small ulcer that needs to be cauterized.

Q—I have a congenital heart defect called patent ductus arteriosus. I am 20 and I am able to swim, play tennis and dance without causing heart symptoms. What are my chances of living a normal life span?

A—This type of congenital heart leakage is due to a failure of the communication between the pulmonary artery and the aorta to close. The size of the leak varies greatly in degree. Individuals and even the smallest opening may cause the loudest murmurs and the least interference with normal circulation. The fact that you can lead an active life without cardiac symptoms is evidence that yours is a very slight defect. It should not affect your life span.

Gen. Stilwell Is Staff Chief In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—The defense department said Thursday night that Maj. Gen. Richard G. Stilwell has been named chief of staff of the U. S. military assistance command in South Viet Nam.

Stilwell succeeds Marine Maj. Gen. Richard G. Weede, who will return to Washington next month for duty at marine corps headquarters.

Stilwell, 47, has been assistant chief of staff for operations in the military assistance command in South Viet Nam since April, 1963. He is not related to the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell, World War II commander in Burma. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, also is in Viet Nam as head of the U. S. army support command.

Police Quell Riot in Dallas County Jail

DALLAS, Tex., April 24 (AP)—Police with dogs and fire hoses Thursday night quelled a riot in the Dallas county jail that involved about 150 Negro prisoners and lasted three and one-half hours.

One jailer, Ray Masters, 50, was wounded superficially, Sheriff Bill Decker said, with a razor blade broken into two pieces and welded by two inmates.

The sheriff said no prisoners were hurt in the disturbance.

Decker said he had gone to the jail about 7:30 p.m. to talk to a group of prisoners who had been shouting, "We want justice," and rattling tin cups on their cell bars. He said they protested about food, crowded conditions and infrequent use of the telephone.

After talking to the prisoners, Decker said he thought everything had quieted until a short time later when the riot erupted.

Decker said Masters went into the safety vestibule where a fight had started and two men crowded into the safety vestibule with the jailer. As he sought to get them back into the corridor, they slashed him with the broken razor blade.

Prisoners in three corridors of the seventh floor then began shouting, cursing and tearing up their mattresses. Decker said at least three mattresses were torn to bits, set afire and thrown to the street below, a short distance from the point where President John F. Kennedy was assassinated last Nov. 22.

Jack Ruby, convicted slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's accused assassin, is held in the jail awaiting appeal of his death sentence assessed by a jury March 14.

It was from this same jail building that seven prisoners made a sensational escape during the Ruby murder trial. Two men still are at large.

Republicans Are Planning to Offer Their Bill for Helping Needy People

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Republicans who do not like President Johnson's anti-poverty program are planning to offer their own bill to help the needy.

It was learned today that the GOP aid program being drafted would give states more administrative and financial responsibility than Johnson's anti-poverty package.

The GOP measure also would provide an alternative for Republicans who are fearful that opposition to the President's bill would hurt them at the polls.

As its key feature, the GOP package would require states to submit plans for combating poverty to the federal government for approval before grants would be given.

Under the Johnson program, local or private welfare agencies may submit a community anti-poverty plan for direct approval to the federal government, by-passing local and state offices.

The Republicans have been critical of this aspect of the Johnson bill.

Republicans said their plan would offer most of the programs included in the Johnson package such as a "job corps" or "work-training" projects, provided a state wanted them.

The GOP program would be administered by the health, education and welfare department. Republicans have opposed Johnson's plan to set up a poverty "czar" to oversee his program.

The President's poverty proposal is expected to cost $62.5 million dollars the first year, mostly in direct federal grants.

The GOP bill drafters still are studying the cost of their plan, but they expect it to total about $60 million dollars.

Under the Republican plan, the federal government would pay the entire cost the first year. The second year it would pay one-third, with state and local governments contributing the remainder either in cash, equipment or services.

The Republican proposal in the third year would require

Man Charged With Threat

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24 (AP)—The U. S. secret service charged a former Atlantic City, N. J., office worker Thursday with threatening the life of President Johnson.

Michael Vaughn Cramer, 39, was quoted by secret service agent Bob Newbrand as saying, "If I hadn't been put in jail I would have gone to Atlantic City in August to kill the President."

Cramer is charged with mailing a letter March 12 to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover from Reno, Nev., which said:

"I warn you. For in August, at Atlantic City, N. J., Lyndon B. Johnson will follow Kennedy to the grave. I'll kill him and there ain't a thing you or the secret service can do about it."

Paul School Americanism Course Ends

PAUL, April 24 — The first Americanism course to be offered to fifth grade students on a county basis in Idaho, has been completed in Minidoka county, Otha McGill, commander of the Paul American Legion, said today.

The course was sponsored by the Wilbur Hall post No. 77 here and was offered to 404 students in six elementary schools within the county.

According to Commander McGill, this county may be the first in the nation to offer this course to an entire county school district.

The commander said the flag etiquette course was instigated at the first of this school year when it was observed that many adults failed to show proper respect to the flag.

He said the best way to reach the parents with this information was through their children, and the fifth graders were selected as the best age group for delivery. Boyd Earl, principal of the Paul school, was the school district coordinator for the program.

Each student completing the course received a certificate signed by P. E. McCarty, local post adjutant, and Commander McGill.

Betrayal Is New Law in East Germany

BERLIN, April 24 (AP)—The betrayal of refugees has become a legal obligation in communist East Germany.

A new law, the text of which became available in West Berlin today, says citizens living in areas bordering on West Germany must report persons who are illegally in border areas or who violate border regulations.

Failure to betray potential refugees will be punishable by jail terms of up to two years if other laws do not prescribe more severe punishment or a fine of up to 3,000 east marks—$500 at the legal exchange rate.

The law also orders a curfew from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. for residents of the border areas.

A border area is 1,500 feet deep from the actual border line.

An area three miles deep is restricted to persons actually residing there and to those who have special passes issued by the police.

Persons spending their holidays on the Baltic coast may not use sailboats with sails larger than 24 square feet and motorboats with motors of more than 3.5 horsepower. Boats may not leave the territorial waters of East Germany and can cruise only from dawn to dusk. Hundreds of refugees have escaped to Sweden and Denmark in small boats.

The law also says that all ships operating within the territorial waters can be stopped and searched and "persons who have committed or crime while crossing through the territorial waters can be arrested." Helping a refugee to escape is a crime in East Germany.

Ships can be pursued to the high seas, the law says.

NOW! A Natural Soil Conditioner That's 4 WAYS BETTER Than Peat Moss!

It's a composted forest bark just like nature intended. SOIL-AID is so fine, rich and black. And, upon to handle! It's actually four ways better than peat moss. Here are the facts:

- FACT 1 It's ready to use... finely ground with no shredding or soaking. Won't pack or ball up.
- FACT 2 Since it's a porous tree bark, it holds water up around thirty roots... doesn't let it "drain through."
- FACT 3 Nitrogen fortified! So it does not draw nitrogen and other nutrients from the soil as other inert conditioners usually do.
- FACT 4 Longer lasting! Soil-AID performs the year 'round. It insulates, aerates and provides humus year after year!

TRY IT! IT DOES WONDERS FOR NEW OR OLD LAWNS, FLOWERS, SHRUBS OR POTTED PLANTS.

Johnson Makes Wisecracks About GOP's Chances Against Democrats

CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—President Johnson ticked off the entire list of Republican presidential candidates and contenders Thursday night in a series of wisecracks about the GOP's chances against the Democrats next November.

The President unlimbered his wit before 6,500 Illinois Democrats who paid about $650,000 to listen to him at a fund-raising dinner at McCormick Place on the banks of Lake Michigan.

The President responded to the partisan cheers by predicting "decisive victory at all levels for the party of all the people" and confiding that "a funny thing happened to me on the way out to Chicago."

"I passed Richard M. Nixon coming back from Viet Nam and Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller going out to California," he said.

"Harold Stassen was trying to hitch a ride and Bill Scranton insisted that he doesn't want to go," he said. "But if he changes his mind he will just walk."

Johnson stayed on the wisecrack level by recalling he had read that "Barry and Rocky have decided to cut down on their appearances in the California primary campaign."

This, he said, reminded him of a Texan who told a friend he was thinking of "running for sheriff against Uncle Jim Wilson." The candidate said he figured the election would depend on which candidate saw the most voters. According to Johnson, the friend replied:

"That's what I think. If you see the most, Uncle Jim will win. If he sees the most you will win."

Johnson was in a more serious vein in his prepared text when he said the United States and the Soviet Union "took one step back from the precipice" when both nations decided this week to cut production of fissionable material for atomic bombs.

He gave the pledge that "we are going to go as far as is prudent and as fast as is possible to bring peace to this world."

The President also was serious in his partisan remarks when he said the Democratic party has kept faith "with the young warrior who led us so valiantly and who was taken from us so prematurely."

At the end of his address, the President and his wife led the audience in standing for a moment with bowed heads in a memorial to the late President Kennedy.

Henscheid Is Honored for Long Service

RUPERT, April 24 — William Henscheid was honored this week for his 13 years of service as president of the Project Mutual Telephone Cooperative association.

Henscheid, who stepped down this spring after serving as president of the company's board of directors since February, 1950, was presented a new "French renaissance" telephone by Donald Dickson, manager of Project Mutual.

Dickson explained the telephone was a gift to Henscheid "from company subscribers, on behalf of the company, for past guidance given the company with the help of the other directors."

The new telephone, which was put into use this week, is a copy of an early-day French telephone and is gold-plated and trimmed in black.

Henscheid is still a member of the board, but gave up the presidency to Mervin Ling at the last annual meeting of the company. He served the organization when the company changed over to the dial system and during the time expansion on the Northside project. While Henscheid was president, the firm has grown from an operation with assets of about $80,000 to a two million dollar corporation.

Henscheid reported that he had enjoyed being on the board and felt that it had been an honor to serve as president of the firm.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, APRIL 24 — Born today, you have a forceful and alert mind that makes it easy for you to keep abreast of your own affairs. This may sound like a simple thing, but since your affairs are apt to be many, varied, and at times exceedingly complicated, it is no easy thing to keep all the wheels turning smoothly and at the same time, successfully. You, however, are destined to manage not only well, but beautifully!

Your ambitions are high, your determination—hardy, and your instinct keen. You are sensible enough never to enter into any endeavor for which you have not prepared yourself well in advance, and you are wise enough not to bother to try to prepare yourself for those things at which you could not possibly succeed. And it is a rare talent, indeed, that can discern between the two situations.

You have a great deal of charm, and will probably find that others just naturally gravitate to the warmth of your personality. This is something that should grow as you mature, and if you are wise you will set about to acquire a certain amount of humbleness to go with it. The combination of humility, warmth, and charm is hard to beat!

Among those born on this date are: Shirley MacLaine, actress; Anthony Trollope, English author; Robert Penn Warren, author, critic.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Saturday, April 25

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Let business considerations fly out the window for the moment. You are most needed now for peace on the domestic scene.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Avoid questioning another's motives where a favor is concerned. Look a gift horse in the mouth, and he's apt to bite!

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A day for conservative action even if your ideas are of the most progressive sort. Avoid the appearance of being "out of step."

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Best to postpone decisions relating to the younger members of the household until a more promising time.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Another's false start could set you back considerably. Best to lend a hand and get things off to a good beginning.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — You can win friends and influence people if you go about it calmly. To demand others' support may be to lose it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Study any suggestion that you change your present circumstances with great care. You should know best what you are after.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — A day that improves as it ages. Unexpected happenings should bring you unexpected joys.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — If you can sidestep error this morning, all should go well for the remainder of the day. Improve your personality ratings!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Better to take the long way around than to run into trouble via the shortcut. Be patient, steady, and, above all, fair.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — Heightened personal relations should make this a Saturday worth remembering. Put your best foot forward — and keep it there!

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — If contemplating a journey, best to postpone departure until afternoon. Morning hours should be spent in preparation.

SATURDAY, APRIL 25 — Born today, you are firm and just in your thinking, and are not in the least prone to making decisions without giving every aspect of the issue in question careful and reasonable consideration. To act on impulse would be entirely contrary to your inclinations; to rush into things is against your nature to such a degree that on those occasions when you are forced to act hurriedly, you are not often successful.

It may be that you are over-dependent on schedules, on plans and prearrangements. You might be able to up your efficiency rating considerably if you were more able to shift with the prevailing wind. Remember that the world does not always turn the way one anticipates; there are jolts and jars that must be accommodated if one is to be truly nimble.

You have a calm exterior which correctly reflects a methodical nature, and many who do not know you well are apt to think you all but devoid of emotion, so steady do you appear. Yet you are inwardly just as responsive as the next fellow, and perhaps more so. You should make an effort to express your feelings more openly; good personal relationships demand it!

Among those born on this date are: Oliver Cromwell, English statesman; Marconi, inventor of the wireless; Edward R. Murrow, noted news commentator.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, April 26

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — A day for getting outdoors. Join others in sports, either actively or on the sidelines.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — A good day for Gemini to demonstrate a willingness to serve others. Visit the sick; cheer the lonely; aid the young.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A agreeable day for all your usual Sunday interests. Social contacts should bring real, lasting enjoyment.

else today. Concentration is vital to inspiration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — This should be an excellent day for house-hunting if you're in the market. If not, take a drive in the country anyway!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Build your reserve of energy back to top level. Give your mind a real rest for a change as you rest and relax.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — A friendly day, offering Capricorn much in the way of personal satisfaction. Seek to meet others on their own terms.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — All Sunday programs are favorably followed today. Choose your activities with the whole family in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) —

Hire Qualified Officers, Council Urged

RUPERT, April 24 — The Mindoka Ministerial association has asked for local governing groups to make every effort to obtain well qualified individuals for local law enforcement agencies.

Cooperate with those who would serve the community. What's good for them is good for you. Foresight improves your lot.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Avoid telling tales out of school. If you cannot aid another by divulging the information you have, keep silent!

The resolution was presented to the Rupert city council Tuesday evening by the committee chairman, the Rev. Raymond A. Thompson, First Methodist church of Rupert. The Rev. Mr. Thompson said the ministerial association took the action because of its belief in the need for good law enforcement.

The resolution states, "We strongly urge the Rupert council to make very careful consideration on the procurement of personnel for the department. That they shall be well qualified, and sincere in their efforts as law enforcement officers." The ministers further recommended that careful study and action be taken to see salaries are adequate for persons to support their families without embarrassment; and would allow the attraction of worthy and well qualified personnel to the law offices of the city of Rupert and Mindoka county.

Salary increases for the city electrical department also were approved by the council and followed closely the five per cent mark used by the council in granting raises in other departments recently. Leo Henschel and Claud Bowman, delegates from the Rupert Kiwanis club, appeared before the city council regarding proposed tennis court plans. Possible reconstruction of the old courts at Washington school, or new courts to be located at Neptune or the new 12th street park, was discussed.

Representatives from the Kiwanis club pointed out that their organization is interested in re-fitting the court construction program proposed two years ago. During other business, the council approved the purchase of a new road grader from the Southern Idaho Equipment company, of Twin Falls. It also voted to go ahead with sealing work needed in the Neptune park swimming pool.

The council voted to put city police department employees on a five-day week starting June 1. Permits were issued to Theo Johnson for a patio roof for $200 at 418 B street. Badger brothers for a $3,000 storage building at Sixth and D streets and Arnold Hirsch for a $100 tool shed on South D street.

Four Forums Planned by Buhl Church

BUHL, April 24 — A series of community family forums will be conducted at the First Baptist church in Buhl in four weekly sessions, beginning May 6 and concluding May 27, according to the Rev. Robert Burchell, pastor.

These community forums have been planned in the hope that families which face the strain of modern day living may gain insight and understanding in family life in the 20th century. With this insight families may grow and become the foundation for living in the modern, scientific age, the minister said.

All persons are welcome to attend any or all of the sessions. There is no cost, and a question period will follow each forum.

The Rev. Jack Jennings, minister of the First Presbyterian church, Wendell, will be the featured speaker for the first community family forum at 8 p. m. May 6.

The Rev. Mr. Jennings will speak on the topic, "Family Life—Foundation for the Future." He is well versed in this field having his B.A., B.D. and M.A. degrees in psychology and religion. He served as case worker at St. Luke's child psychiatric center in New York, was summer intern in clinical pastoral counseling at Larned, Kans., and interne chaplain at San Quentin prison.

Dr. Glenn Hoss, Twin Falls, who has practiced for 25 years in Magic Valley, will be the guest speaker for the second family forum on May 13. His subject will be, "Family Life and Creative Sex Education."

The Rev. Mr. Burchell will speak on the subject, "Changing Patterns of Family Life—Its Problems and Potentials," during the third forum May 20.

The final sessions, on May 27, will feature Mrs. Helen Henderson, Twin Falls, juvenile probation officer for Twin Falls county, whose subject will be "Family Life and Teen-Age Tensions."

IDAHO 4-H LEADERS visited with Sen. Frank Church while attending the national 4-H conference in Washington, D. C., this week. Church made the keynote address to the conference.

Storm Causes Buhl Mishaps

BUHL, April 24—A snowstorm here Wednesday was listed as the cause of two separate accidents, with minor injuries reported to three persons, according to Twin Falls county deputy sheriffs.

At 5:40 p. m. Wednesday Mrs. Elizabeth Sue Foster, 22, en route from Seattle, Wash., to Salt Lake City, failed to negotiate a curve four miles northwest of Buhl on highway 30. Her 1956 Chevrolet ran off the highway, rolled over once landing back on its wheels and came to rest in the borrow pit.

Mrs. Foster had just passed a large trailer on the highway and because of the heavy slushy snow on her windshield, she failed to observe the curve in time. She and her two children, Kim Foster, 23 months old, and Scott Foster, 7 months old, were treated and released by a local physician for minor cuts and abrasions. Deputy Sheriff Curtis Pryor reported the car was demolished.

At 6:10 p. m. a 1958 Chevrolet Corvette operated by Albert J. Kendrick, Turner, 21, Buhl, was struck by a 1963 Studebaker pickup truck driven by Alfred L. Roy, 49, Twin Falls, three and one-half miles northwest of Buhl on the Melon valley road.

Roy had bypassed a road onto which he wished to turn, so he stopped his truck and backed up. Because of the heavy snowfall he failed to notice the stopped car at the mailbox and backed into the other vehicle, doing extensive damage to the left front fender and grill of the Corvette, according to Deputy Sheriff T. M. Kendrick.

Mrs. Jackson Is Honored at Rites

JEROME, April 24 — Funeral services for Mrs. Laura Fay Jackson were conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Hove funeral chapel by the Rev. John Freese, St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Dean and Gene Rutherford sang, accompanied by Cindy Malone. Pallbearers included Raymond Harris, Harvey Harding, Glen Harding, Donald Harding, William Harding and Dale Harris.

Concluding rites were held in the Jerome cemetery.

Naturalization Ceremony Is Incident to Be Remembered

By MIKE McGEHEE

About five years of work and study were climaxed here for three Magic Valley women Thursday afternoon in Eleventh district court, when they pledged their oath of allegiance to the United States and became citizens by naturalization.

They are Mrs. Yutaka Hanami, Paul; Mrs. Gordon Hansen, Rupert; and Mrs. E. H. Butts, Twin Falls.

Edmond J. Rice, immigration and naturalization service, Helena, Mont., informed Judge Theon Ward that the three women had successfully filed applications with the service and had been investigated.

Naturalization means a little more to those who are awarded citizenship in this way, than to those who are citizens by birth, because the naturalized citizen renounces all allegiance to the land of birth to pledge allegiance to the United States, Judge Ward said.

Judge Ward also pointed out in his talk that there have been many great American citizens who were naturalized. He used the famed physicist Albert Einstein as an example.

Mrs. Butts, a native of Taiwan; Mrs. Hansen, a native of Denmark; and Mrs. Hanami, a native of Japan, raised their right hands when Judge Ward told them to and took the oath.

After the oath, Judge Ward introduced Douglas Kramer, American Legion national committeeman, who welcomed the three women, with pleasure, as citizens of the United States.

Kramer introduced Tommy Walker, commander of the Twin Falls American Legion, who presented United States flags to the three women.

Judge Ward then gave them their certificates of citizenship.

... noted, after the ceremonies, that the final naturalization hearings are held every April and October.

"I usually naturalize about seven people," Judge Ward said, noting that Thursday's hearing was the smallest in some time.

Judge Ward also noted that most of those naturalized are children, who are not required to take the oath of allegiance, but whose parents had filed for citizenship for them with the naturalization and immigration department.

World's Fair Is Endorsed By Customer

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—The New York World's Fair, making a spectacular recovery from opening-day bad weather and civil rights clamor, has earned the endorsement of the most important of all critics, the customer.

The exposition was lauded by some two dozen persons polled at random Thursday on the fairgrounds.

Attendance climbed from Wednesday's opening-day 92,696 to 183,252 Thursday. The relatively low attendance Wednesday was attributed to civil rights demonstrations, which had been announced in advance, and to the chill rain.

More than 300 persons were arrested for demonstrating in or around the 646-acre fair site in Flushing Meadows park.

Many of the patrons, polled Thursday spoke of the educational value of the dozens of government and industrial pavilions.

"There are many worthwhile exhibitions," said Dante Germonetti, Walpole, Mass. "It speaks well of the technology of our society."

Others remarked about how far a dollar went, and still others praised the resting and eating accommodations, a great point of dissatisfaction at the 1939-40 New York World's Fair.

A few complained of long waits to get into some of the larger pavilions, and others suggested restaurant prices could be a bit lower.

The New York state pavilion was dedicated by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Also dedicated and formally opened Thursday were the Korean pavilion and the Jordanian pavilion, where King Hussein of Jordan officiated.

A small army of workmen continued construction of several pavilions and other buildings.

Rotary Club Has Conclave Report

BURLEY, April 24 — Robert Peterson and Bob Saxvik reported on the district convention of the Rotary club held recently in Twin Falls at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting at the National hotel.

William Haines and R. C. Osterlander, new members, were inducted into the Burley Rotary club by Jack Snow, past president.

Visiting Rotarians were George Walker, Pocatello; S. Ratcliffe, Boise, and Russell Bennett, Twin Falls.

Business Mirror

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK, April 24 (AP) — Conventions are big business and the scramble to get them is becoming fiercer.

Some cities long since became convention-minded and have profited. Others are belatedly trying to get into the swim.

New York City last year played host to 800 conventions which spent an estimated 250 million dollars.

Competition to attract conventions is keen among cities which recognize the potential financial rewards from housing and entertaining convention delegates.

Many cities have organized special visitors and convention bureaus to meet the competition and assist in promoting this lucrative trade.

Winning out as the convention site, however, is only the first step.

A city must offer first-rate accommodations, facilities to handle big crowds such as adequate transportation, banquet halls, restaurants and an easily accessible location.

For example, New York City in the last four years has added

Idahoan's Trial Goes On

CAMP ZAMA, Japan, April 24 (AP)—Defense and prosecution attorneys made final arguments today in the court-martial trial of army Spec. 6 Richard M. Strong on charges of premeditated murder. The six-man court is expected to begin deliberating its verdict Monday.

Strong, 25, Idaho Falls, is accused of strangling his wife, Peggy, 23, in their quarters after a New Year's Eve party. If convicted, he could be sentenced to death or life imprisonment.

The court will get final law instructions Monday.

Strong's attorneys based their arguments mostly on the testimony of three psychiatrists who said that if Strong had not been temporarily deranged the killing would not have occurred.

Army Capt. Donald W. Hansen, Denver, Colo., the prosecutor, contended that a statement made by Strong after his arrest indicated he was sane when he strangled his wife.

The statement said in part: "I don't know what happened to me but I put my hands around her throat and started choking her and when I realized this, I figured that I had went that far I just as well continue, which I did."

Dead Mice Are Killing Idaho Cats

BLACKFOOT, April 24 (AP)—Dead and dying mice, believed to be infected with tularemia, or rabbit fever, are suspected to be the cause of the death of a large number of cats in the Aberdeen-Springfield area in southwestern Blaine county, and some in the Moreland area south of Blackfoot.

Hundreds of dead mice were found in the areas early this week.

The mice are believed to have died from rabbit fever. The cats are believed to have died from eating the dead or dying mice.

District Health Officer Jack Jelke, Blackfoot, said the outbreak among the mouse population has not yet been confirmed by the health department. Tests at the district health laboratory in Pocatello were not conclusive, he said, and some of the specimens were sent to the U. S. public health service laboratory in Hamilton, Mont.

Jelke said that rabbit fever was suspected because similar outbreaks had accrued in the state last year, in western Idaho and around Bone, in the Gray's lake region east of Blackfoot.

Jelke said that reports of dead mice have also come in the west Blackfoot area.

He said there is a danger of infection from handling the dead animals because of fleas. A human could pick up the fleas while handling the dead animal and become infected through their bite.

Drinker

BULWICK, England, April 24 (AP)—The proprietor of a local pub threw a party Thursday for a customer he figures drank more than 500 barrels of beer over the years.

"I've worked it out," explained pubkeeper Phillip Carlisle of the Queen's Head, "that in his lifetime Walter Parkins has consumed 507 barrels, or nearly 15 lorry truckloads of beer."

"In harvest time — when I'm dry — I often drink 14 pints of it an evening," said Parkins, 63.

The beer for the party was on the house.

Jerome Assured About Facilities

JEROME, April 24 — Jerome residents have been reassured by Sen. Frank Church, D. Ida., that a new postoffice for the community is in the offing.

Church was one of the Idaho congressional delegation contacted this week for a status report on the proposed Jerome building. A representative of Church's Washington office informed Mayor Earl Greenawald this week that plans are proceeding satisfactorily for new facilities here.

Vandaleers Set Concert

RUPERT, April 24—The University of Idaho Vandaleers will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Minico high school auditorium.

The local stop will be part of the 65-voice group's 17th consecutive tour of the Gem state. The group will be on tour from April 27 to May 1 under the direction of Prof. Glen R. Lockery.

The choral group will present offerings ranging from church music of the 18th century to Broadway show tunes and favorite campus melodies. A chamber orchestra, made up of members of the University of Idaho Symphony, also will be heard.

Angela Sherbenou, pianist from American Falls, will be featured as special intermission soloist. Other soloists will be vocalists Donna Meacham, Moscow; Gerry Cosby, Boise; Winston Cook, Bonners Ferry; Linda Nelson, Blackfoot; Karen Oleson, College Place, Wash., and Virginia Reynolds, Nampa.

TOURING HOSPITAL GROUNDS near Lambarene, Gabon, Africa, last December is Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who defies young Africans and local officials. One official said, "He treats our people like savages . . ." The 88-year-old winner of the Nobel Peace prize would slow Africa's rush toward the white man's idea of progress. Africans coming to the 40-year-old medical haven in increasing numbers seem to prefer fifth-strewn shacks that serve as wards to the new, gleaming hospital on nearby Lambarene island. (AP wirephoto)

Dr. Schweitzer Defies Africa's Rush Toward White Man's Idea of Progress

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

LAMBARENE, Gabon, April 24 (AP)—In his jungle hospital on the banks of the Ogooue river, Dr. Albert Schweitzer defies Africa's rush toward the white man's idea of progress.

"I have lived here for 84 years. I know what's best for Africans," says the 88-year-old winner of the Nobel peace prize.

His hospital has treated more than 50,000 Africans in its 40-year existence. They continue to come in growing numbers to the fifth-strewn shacks serving as wards—disregarding a new, gleaming hospital built by the French on nearby Lambarene island.

"Here they find conditions to which they are accustomed and they know they will be cured," says the old man.

Dr. Schweitzer has become one of the most controversial figures in restless Africa. The problem narrows down to whether the continent should force its development or should be left to itself and its traditions.

"Africa—" he begins, and dismisses the subject with a wave.

"There is no point in writing all this," he says with an ironic smile. "They are trying to stir the people up against me."

"They" are the comparative handful of educated Africans who head the continent's sometimes reckless move toward European-type civilization.

Dr. Schweitzer turns his eyes away from the crowded corrugated iron shacks of his famous hospital, backed by the donations of the world's rich and poor.

Outside his office, which also serves as the principal pharmacy, an old woman is reeling. Ducks waddle in the ditch near where his families of the sick cook meals over open fires.

From the desk he has occupied since 1928, Dr. Schweitzer looks toward the muddy waters of the Ogooue below. Narrow progues move toward nearby Lambarene, one of the main towns of the new Gabon republic.

In Lambarene and elsewhere in Gabon, students are growing restless and angry—against French advisers, against the white man. One day they shouted "down with Schweitzer's hospital."

"He treats our people like savages instead of bringing progress," a Gabonese official asserted.

Said a French official working for the Gabon government:

"For years we have been thinking of forcing him to introduce some idea of hygiene, adopt modern treatment methods. But we are powerless. He has millions of dollars and influential people behind him."

Dr. Schweitzer has heard all this. He sees only one thing—that the black man from the bush continues to come for help to him and his doctors, some of whom come from the world's best hospitals.

Some sick are carried by relatives over 200 miles of forest paths. Once in a hospital, they get a ticket with a number. It is explained "African names are too complicated—who knows how to spell them anyway?"

Families stay with the sick, sleeping on the floor next to their beds. The beds are one of Dr.

Schweitzer's concessions to European comfort.

The patients are issued staple food rations to be cooked by their relatives.

To Schweitzer and his staff the problem is simple—you cannot give an African two pills and tell him to take them on two different occasions. He has to be given one pill at a time and supervised when swallowing it.

There are no showers in the hospital—the sick are washed by their families in the Ogooue. There is no latrine because "they are not used to it."

No nurses are on duty in the wards but 15 work in the hospital. Families alert the doctors in case of emergency.

And thousands of Africans leave Schweitzer's hospital cured and grateful. They return to mud shacks in the heart of the rain forest.

There were 6,000 African patients in 1962.

The old doctor makes plans for expansion, adds new shacks to his hospital.

"I am busy, I have no time to worry about all that nonsense," he says in his Alsatian French.

"That nonsense" is young Africa, with its independence, desires, pretensions, incongruities. Proud young Africans in tight trousers and pointed shoes sneer at his work but seem unable or unwilling to replace it.

Dr. Schweitzer prefers tribesmen with their own dignity and their own traditions who smile at him and give him their confidence.

Outside a mother waits, carrying a small child scarred with the terrible marking of witchcraft. She has come to the white doctor, asking him to save her child.

"This is Africa," says Schweitzer with his slight smile. "You want it to be independent, don't you?"

Professor Is Collecting Zany Notions

DENTON, Tex., (AP)—Dr. George D. Hendricks of the North Texas State university English faculty has a hobby of collecting popular beliefs and superstitions in the Southwest. He comes up with some weirdies.

Take a couple on weather: If a cow kicks backward, it is a sign that it will rain within three days. Singing at the supper table will make it rain.

Here is one for men who have been nagged by their wives about new dresses: Bite the tail of a butterfly and a new dress will be forthcoming.

Wart trouble? Just talk loud and long, and rub.

Ghosts won't bother you in a graveyard if you hold your breath and walk out backwards.

In the field of human relations, Hendricks got this advice: "Beware of that man, be he friend or brother, whose hair is one color and mustache another."

Casino in Nevada May Be Reopened

CARSON CITY, Nev., April 24 (AP)—While 150 employees waited in the wings, the Nevada gaming commission pondered today whether to reopen the Silver Slipper casino on the Las Vegas strip.

Commissioners announced they would try to reach a decision within a few days after finishing a two-day hearing Thursday.

Gaming agents locked up all table games at the casino April 3, charging that five altered dice were found in use at a crap game. Since then, only slot machines have been allowed to continue.

Robert O. Schulze, principal stockholder, said about three-fifths or 150 of his employees have been laid off. The business is worth 4.7 million dollars, he said, and he estimates his loss at $150,000 to $175,000.

Both Schulze and Tony Canino, the manager, deny any knowledge of the crooked dice. A third owner, Frank L. King, was excluded from the hearing.

The five-man commission could revoke the owners' gambling license.

Agents of the gaming control board, the commission's investigative and enforcement arm, picked up the dice during a routine check March 27. They said each die had elongated edges on the six and one faces and are referred to in the gambling trade as "percentage dice."

Firemen Discuss Street Washing

HAILEY, April 24—The annual spring street washdown by volunteer firemen was discussed at their meeting Wednesday evening in the national guard armory hall.

No date was set because half an inch of snow had piled up in that day's storm.

"We will wash the three main blocks of the business section as soon as weather permits," said Fire Chief James Dorr.

Dorr also said drills will be held at the regular monthly meetings as soon as weather permits.

A report was given on the firemen's annual ladies' night sing-a-long held early in April.

Idaho Falls Man Robbed Near Arco

ARCO, April 24 (UP)—Thugs beat and robbed an Idaho Falls truck driver of between $300 and $400 Thursday night on the desert near Howe.

Butte county Sheriff Ben Johnson and state patrolman Ron Varble said Friday two suspects and a witness were picked up and jailed for questioning. One of the suspects was shot in the leg when he resisted arrest, Johnson said.

The victim, John R. Renfro, 25, was taken to Sacred Heart hospital in Idaho Falls for treatment of a possible fractured jaw and other head injuries. He was reported in fair condition.

Renfro told officials that he stopped on a hill about seven miles from Howe to check his load. He saw a dark-colored car coming toward him. The car passed him, turned around and pulled up beside the truck.

Three men stepped from the car, one asking him about a case of beer. Then, the truck driver said, something hit him. He saw the larger of the men starting to kick him as he went down.

When Renfro regained consciousness he found his wallet, containing between $300 and $400, had been ripped from its chain and the day's receipts stolen. Renfro managed to walk across the desert to a guard shack on the atomic energy commission site to report the robbery and the beating.

Officers said some of the missing money has been recovered from one of the suspects.

Johnson said one of the suspects, Tommy Rodarto, about 24, was shot in the leg when he resisted arrest. Rodarto allegedly grabbed Johnson's gun when Johnson and Varble and Deputy Sheriff Don Watts went to an Arco home to question him.

Rodarto was treated by an Arco doctor for a flesh wound and then jailed along with another suspect, also named Rodarto, and believed to be a relative. A woman witness also was taken into custody.

Club congress is scheduled for June 21-27 and 4-H camp June 28-29. During the Minidoka County 4-H Leaders association and 4-H Builders club April meeting, John Chase, new president, was in charge. James Woody led the pledges. It was announced the county commission will reimburse the Builders club for property that was destroyed by fire when the county weed building burned at the labor camp.

Mrs. Hylak Beavery, Mrs. Harry Tucker, Mrs. Wilbur Butler and County Home Agent Ann Marie Baum were appointed to work on revision of the advisory board.

Dead Voters

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 24 (UP)—The New Mexico Republican organization has charged there are more registered voters in 13 New Mexico counties than there are persons of voting age.

Its official publication, "The Republican," said a comparison of the 1960 census figures with registration lists showed that dead persons had been included on the lists. "More than a third of the counties in New Mexico have more than 100 per cent registration," the article said.

Rainstorm Marks Departure For 10 Visiting Governors

BOISE, April 24 (UP)—Japanese governors visiting the United States on a goodwill tour left Idaho today as they arrived Wednesday—in the rain.

A steady downpour marked the departure and the 10 governors and their wives were escorted from the municipal air terminal to the plane by Boy Scouts carrying umbrellas.

The plane, scheduled to depart at 8:10 a.m., was 15 minutes late getting into the air. It headed for Utah, the next stop for the Japanese visitors.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, host to the group in Idaho, said his farewells inside the terminal building. During their stop in Boise the Japanese received advice on federal-state relations from two Republican governors.

The governors visited the University of Utah campus, the "This Is the Place" monument and the Mormon tabernacle and participated in a cheery tree planting ceremony in Salt Lake City.

They were to fly on to Denver in the afternoon.

Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield Thursday advised them to guard against concentration of power in their central government. He said states in this country face a problem of too much federal power.

Hatfield replied to a request by Gov. Yoshio Miura of Miyagi Prefecture for his views on problems faced by the Japanese government in attempting to raise the standard of living in underdeveloped areas.

Miura also asked for comment on a proposal for cooperation between the prefectures and central government in administration of water and road development.

Smylie said states in this country are attempting to solve a similar question with as little federal government interference as possible.

Colts' Johnson Becomes First Major Leaguer to Pitch No-Hitter and Lose

HOUSTON, April 24 (AP)—Houston's Ken Johnson pitched the first no-hitter of the season Thursday night but was beaten by his former Cincinnati teammates 1-0 when the Reds scored in the ninth on two errors. It was the first time in major league history that a pitcher had hurled nine no-hit innings and lost. Cincinnati played the game under protest, because of a disputed play in the bottom half of the ninth inning.

The last pitcher to lose a no-hitter was Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix, who went 12 innings against Milwaukee in 1959 before the Braves won 1-0 in the 13th inning. There have been various other instances of pitchers losing no-hitters in extra innings.

Johnson, a 30-year-old knuckleball specialist drafted from the Reds in the 1961 National League expansion draft, placed himself in jeopardy with one out in the ninth when he fielded a bunt by Pete Rose and threw wildly to first base. Rose went to second base on the play.

Johnson then got Chico Ruiz to hit a grounder to third baseman Bob Aspromonte, who threw out the runner as Rose reached third.

Vada Pinson then sent a grounder to veteran second baseman Nellie Fox who booted the ball. Rose raced across the plate with the only run of the game. Johnson got Frank Robinson to fly out to left fielder Jim Wynn for the final out.

The Colts thus went to the bottom of the ninth trailing 1-0 with Cincinnati starter Jose Nunez still working on a five-hitter.

Before the inning got underway, umpire Stan Landes ejected Houston coach Jim Adair.

Eddie Kasko, the first Houston batter, struck out. Fox then grounded to shortstop Leo Cardenas and was thrown out.

Pete Runnels, a former American League batting champion, was the third batter for the Colts. He rapped a grounder to first baseman Deron Johnson, who threw to Nunez covering at first base. Landes called Runnels out, but was reversed by home plate umpire Augie Donatelli.

Runnels was awarded first base, and after the Reds announced the game was being played under protest, play resumed.

Nunez now faced Johnny Wessell, and proceeded to strike him out.

Johnson had pitched a spectacular game until he began his own downfall. He had walked only two men, both on 3-2 pitches—Pinson in the first inning and Bob Skinner in the fifth. Only three balls were hit out of the infield.

Ruiz lofted an easy fly to right field in the first and Johnny Edwards filed out to center in the fifth. Robinson's fly in the ninth was the third out.

There also had been only one tough fielding play. In the sixth, Nunez laid down a bunt. Johnson came off the mound quickly, fielded the ball cleanly and fired to first, the peg just nipping the Cincinnati pitcher.

The Colts got their first batter on base in both the seventh and eighth innings but were unable to get a run for Johnson.

Cincinnati's Rose, who had a 4-0 record, was the first batter for the Reds. He hit a home run in the first inning. Pinson, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the second. Robinson, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the third. Skinner, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the fourth. Edwards, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the fifth. Cardenas, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the sixth. Wynn, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the seventh. Nunez, who had a 1-0 record, hit a home run in the eighth.

Losing No-Hitter Is Least Wanted Record

HOUSTON, April 24 (AP)—Ken Johnson of the Houston Colts, a loser despite pitching a no-hitter, wandered around the clubhouse Thursday night wearing a warm-up jacket over his sweat-soaked shirt, no trousers and a smile. The odd attire was for comfort. The smile was for the irony of the situation.

Slightly bewildered by becoming the first pitcher in history to lose a no-hitter in nine innings, Johnson still was not unhappy.

"So I made history," he said, a grin breaking over his face. "Heckuva way to get into the books, isn't it?"

Johnson lost the game when the Reds, his former teammates, scored in the ninth on two errors—one by the 30-year-old Houston knuckleball specialist.

Outwardly, Johnson was relaxed and composed. Someone remarked on how well he seemed to be taking this turn of fortune.

"What else can I do?" asked Ken. "I pitched the best game of my life. I can't feel bad because I lost it. Actually, I feel worse for the guys on the club. I guess that sounds funny, but it's true."

Within a few moments after he entered the silent, gloomy Colts dressing room the big pitcher walked over to Nellie Fox, draped an arm around the second baseman's shoulder and mumbled a few words.

"I just told Nellie it wasn't his fault," said Ken. "It was mine. I put the guy (Rose) on base, and I have no one to blame but myself."

Rose tapped a bunt just to the right of home plate, toward the mound. Johnson fielded it quickly and then threw past Pete Runnels at first base.

Official scorer Dick Peebles immediately ruled an error on the play.

"I knew I had to make a quick throw," said Johnson. "I grabbed the ball with three fingers and I threw a perfect slider—low and away, and behold Pete."

He shook his head and laughed, but it was a little on the hollow side.

"I'll say this though," he added. "When I came up throwing I knew I had him. I can truthfully say that a good throw would have got him."

"It's hard to believe," he said. "I don't know when I'll realize this. Maybe in the morning."

"I guess," he said, "that I'd as soon have won it 1-0 on 12 hits, than lose it like this. Naw, I can't say that."

"You know, right after the game was over—before the last out—I was trying to think of some smart words, some good words, to make the fellows feel better. But I just drew a blank. I knew one thing. It's nobody's fault but my own."

Orioles Split Twin Bill With Boston

BALTIMORE, April 24 (AP)—Norm Siebern's eighth-inning single drove home the only run in the second game as Baltimore's veteran Robin Roberts edged young Dave Morehead of Boston 1-0 in a pitching duel Thursday night. Boston won the opener of the two-night double-header 3-1.

Steve Barber, ace of the Baltimore pitching staff was removed after one inning of the opener when he injured a back muscle.

Barber, the only 20-game winner in Baltimore's modern major league history, was treated in the clubhouse. It was not known immediately when he will return to action.

Morehead, 20, dueling the 37-year-old Siebern for seven innings on even terms. But with one out in the eighth, consecutive singles by Jack Brandt, Luis Aparicio and Siebern produced the only run.

Theater Plan Is Formulated At Ketchum

KETCHUM, April 24 — The Ketchum-Sun Valley summer theater workshop was organized at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Sidwell Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Peter Helser, sr., Seattle, will head the organization. Working with her as coordinators will be the Rev. Gene Boger and Al Rulk, both Ketchum. Mrs. Ray Brown, Ketchum, was named corresponding secretary and Mrs. Grant Hawkes, Halley, treasurer. Mrs. Sidwell, Ketchum; Ann Allatt, Sun Valley, and Mrs. Willis McKercher and Mrs. Frederick Povey, Halley, make up the publicity committee. O. J. Cline, Halley, was named as business manager. Other committees will be appointed soon.

The group voted to present a "mellodramma" sometime in June, using talent from Sun Valley, Ketchum and Halley, to raise funds for the summer program. Plans are to have two, and possibly three, plays during the season.

Vernon Lestrude of the drama department of ISU, Pocatello, will spend the summer at Sun Valley to direct the plays and several drama department students from California, Washington and Oregon will work at Sun Valley lodge and participate.

William Innes and James Bristol, Ketchum, will be in charge of props and the Rev. Mr. Boger will be a technician.

Further plans will be made at a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Theodore Gruener.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ellis, Boise, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellis branded and dehorned their cattle this week at their ranches east of King Hill. Helping with the branding and dehorning were Earl Ellis' son, Richard Ellis, Boise, and Tom Owings, King Hill. They also will be turning the cattle out on the range east of King Hill.

Sheep owned by Ed Sheer and Clifton Dayley, North Shoshone, were sheared by Dave Steen and Ted Adams this week.

Vern Lee Johnson, North Shoshone, branded and dehorned his range cattle in preparation for the summer season.

Nine neighbors gathered at the Roy Peak ranch in North Shoshone to assist him in branding and vaccinating cattle.

Paul Bancroft and Richard Haga, North Shoshone, are exchanging help in branding and vaccinating their cattle at this time. Nickle Sturgeon is assisting.

Branding was in full swing Sunday at many Richfield and area ranches. Morgan Brothers and the Albert Pelleys plan to brand before May 1.

Wesley Fink has finished planting 15 acres of early red potatoes at his ranch south of King Hill. Fink says 200 sacks were cut with the help of Mrs. Fred Heath, Mrs. Clarence Heath and Aaron Heguel.

Dean Shaffer, John Bahr and Roland Muffley are among the first farmers on Camas prairie to start plowing this year. Many farmers report that there is still snow on their fields. This is especially true on the west end of the valley.

Many Camas prairie farmers are busy fixing fences. The heavy snow pulled the wires down on many of the fences over the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Bill) Walker, Hansen, have rented their 120-acre farm to a neighbor, Cecil Stanger. Walker plans to work this summer and will do custom threshing this fall, with tentative plans for both of them to enter the University of Idaho, Moscow, next February.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Monson and family, Fallon, Nev., have moved to the farm they recently purchased from Frank Page in north Shoshone.

Mack Grey and Tom Shelton, Shoshone, took their sheep to the Sanford Connell ranch this week and the herds of the three men were sheared. Dave Steen and partner, Gannett, did the work. More than 400 animals were sheared.

Members of the Thorn Creek and Shoshone Unit Cattle association have branded, dehorned and vaccinated their range cattle in preparation for putting them on the summer range. Those having completed their project are Alvin Bilbao, Ervin Braun, S. M. Hall, Evert Sant, Wayne Sorensen, William Tews, Oscar Kerner, Clifford Stutzman, Donald Sandy, George Moody and Gilbert Kerns.

One of the surest signs of spring in the Wood river valley is the sight of flocks of snow geese flying high overhead as they migrate to their summer homes in the north. Mr. and Mrs. James Eakin of the Cove ranch, near Bannett, reported seeing a large flock Wednesday. The birds were so high their calls could be heard only faintly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Croft, Heyburn, have moved their trailer house to their ranch in Elba where they plan to spend most of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gill are moving to Grand View this week where Gill will be employed at Brunau Sheep farms. He has been employed at the W. W. Knox Pitch Fork ranch at King Hill the past year.

Idaho Cattle Feeders Set Annual Field Day Program

BOISE, April 24—Final plans for the fourth annual Idaho Cattle Feeders association sponsored Beef-O-Rama and field day were announced today by Ed Arnold, Caldwell, association president, and Joe Dahmen, superintendent, Caldwell branch experiment station.

The Beef-O-Rama, a celebration type dinner-dance, has followed the annual Beef Cattle Field day, and will be held in the Caldwell Elks club.

The Beef-O-Rama is open to the public, to cattlemen and their wives and all those interested in the livestock industry, according to Arnold.

It is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. May 2, and will be followed by dancing at 9 p.m. by the Ken Bort orchestra, Boise.

The dinner-dance has been held annually following the field day as a social get-together of Caldwell businessmen and area cattlemen. The Caldwell Chamber of Commerce is helping to formulate final plans for the evening, the proceeds of which are donated to the Elks Rehabilitation center.

The Beef Feeder day is a full program of talks, a tour of the experiment farm, analysis of the feed trial results now under way and a review of current problems in animal diseases.

Cattlemen will assemble at the experiment station and will be taken on a tour of the experimental feed lot starting at 10 a.m. An experimental feed trial is now under way which is co-sponsored by the University of Idaho, animal science department and the Idaho Cattle Feeders association.

Some 60 head of steers were placed on feed in October to test various rations. These cattle will have finished the total testing time shortly before the field day. The cattle will be graded by a committee consisting of Dahmen, Ed Arnold and Joe Ostler prior to the field day.

Taking part in the program will be Idaho Cattlemen's association president Curtis Eaton, Twin Falls; Russell Lindstrom, Burley, and Dr. Ron Ensign, Moscow.

Also on the program will be a discussion of cattle diseases and particularly cattle scours by Dr. Lloyd Frank, University of Idaho.

Lunch will be served on the grounds by the ladies of the Caldwell Goodwill club.

FINAL ADJUSTMENTS are made on a precision sprayer before fumigation of potato plots is undertaken on the E. J. Morgan farm near Murtaugh. ## Fumigated Test Plots Set Out to Aid Spud Growers

MURTAUGH, April 24—Test plots set out this week by the Twin Falls county agent's office and Aberdeen branch experiment station could determine the future of potato growth in many parts of Idaho.

The Idaho spud has enjoyed worldwide fame, but producing the potato has its problems. For example, production seems to decrease on old soil.

According to county agent Olan Genn, potato production on new soil is generally excellent. As time goes by the yield seems to drop. Years ago Twin Falls county used to be one of the top potato producing areas in the state. Now the production has slumped tremendously, while other counties, such as Cassia and Minidoka, are experiencing excellent yields on new soil.

"We believe soil-borne diseases are reducing yield potential," said Genn. A common disease affecting potato production in the county is called "early dying."

This week a team of scientists, including Dr. Richard Ohlms, extension potato specialist; Dr. Kenneth Knudsen, plant pathologist and Gene Dallimore, set out some test plots on the E. J. Morgan farm.

Now the rest is up to Morgan, who will cultivate the field under normal growing conditions and the result will be noted this fall at harvest time.

According to Genn, the fumigation work and the yield pick up, then many sections of Idaho would be back in the business of growing the state's number one crop—potatoes.

NOT ALL ACTIVITY on a farm is work. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rinehart, Dietrich, take time out to catch up on some reading. The couple often participates in community functions and manages to be successful in the operation of the farm. (Times-News photo)

Rinehart Farm Termed One Of Best in Dietrich Tract

DIETRICH, April 24—"One of the better farms on the Dietrich tract" is a common term of description used by those who know about Walter Rinehart's farming operations here.

If one wonders how he gets the classification, it is because of maximum hard work, long hours and attention to details, his neighbors feel.

"He is the kind of farmer who must have his work done on time, or a little sooner," they point out.

Since purchasing his present farm in 1936, he has been continually working it over. With help and information from the soil conservation service through the Wood River soil and water conservation district, Shoshone, the agricultural stabilization and conservation service, and the county extension agent, he has made up-to-date farm improvements.

Rinehart has had his field leveled and ditches removed or changed to make larger fields which are easier to irrigate, cultivate and harvest.

Larger fields, improved irrigation practices, better equipment, and improved fertilization are making it possible for him to increase the yield per acre and to raise a wider variety of crops.

Rinehart has dreams of an exclusively row crop farm, but knows that his farm is not the one. Hay, pasture, grain, corn, potatoes, beans, clover and alfalfa seed are the main crops he uses in his rotation.

For several years, Rinehart has been buying small calves, growing them out and finishing them off as fat steers. He grows his own hay, grain and ensilage, buying only such supplementary feed as may be needed.

This feeding operation supplies manure and humus to be returned to the soil, thus renewing and improving the fertility of his land. He has both tame and improved desert pasture for summer use.

He also milks a few cows and at one time, he kept a farm flock of sheep until loss from dogs and the extra hard work proved unprofitable.

Rinehart came to Dietrich in 1912 with his parents, brothers and sisters. He was reared here and knows the problems peculiar to the area — sand and sandstorms, snow, blizzard, drifted roads, water, electricity, jackrabbits, weeds, insects, quotas, rules, regulations, restrictions and all other major or minor tribulations and problems common to the farmer.

Perhaps winter, just seemed worse in those long ago days when his father drove, first a horse-drawn school bus, and later a truck-bus to Shoshone and later to Dietrich schools.

With no snowplows, they often broke trail twice a day, as the wind drifted the morning's

Lamb Pool

Marvin Lohr, Twin Falls Livestock Marketing association lamb pool chairman, announces the first association lamb pool will be held April 30 at the Piler fairgrounds. Lambs will be received at the stockyards from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Cards have been mailed to members who participated in the pool a year ago asking information concerning this year's pool.

The lamb committee will mark lambs in Twin Falls county April 28 and in Jerome county April 29.

tracks full of snow by evening. In fact, Rinehart remembers the students getting out to push the bus through the drifts to get to school in the mornings.

Two years ago, when his area had a water shortage, it served as a vivid reminder of the years, before 1931, when a shortage of water was the usual state of affairs in the county.

One year, there were only 20 days of irrigation. During several other years there was a little more.

No wonder good farmers like Rinehart spend so much time doing a thorough job of irrigating now that water is more plentiful.

Starting with the original three-room house, he has remodeled and enlarged it into a very attractive and functional farm home. The latest additions are garage and utility room.

His wife, Ruebene, is not to be outdone and is a tireless worker in her yard and garden as well as in the home. Her careful planning and diligent care are reflected in the home and grounds, one of the most attractive homesites in the area.

Protection of Southern Idaho Bean Industry Is Concern of Government

BURLEY, April 24—Beans constitute one of Idaho's major crops, and steps to protect the crop should be taken, said Jerry McBowcutt, federal crop insurance corporation fieldman.

With the introduction of disease-resistant varieties and better farming practices, quality and yield have steadily increased. Improved varieties and high standards of certification have played a major role in this increase in yield.

Bean seed production, formerly concentrated in the Eastern and midwestern states, shifted into the semi-arid western United States when it was discovered that the seed-borne pathogens, which cause anthracnose, and the bacterial blights did not survive the arid environment.

It soon became apparent that southern Idaho was ideally suited to bean seed production.

Great Northern beans were introduced into the Twin Falls and Jerome areas about 1916 and soon replaced the popular Lady Washington variety. Later, the red Mexican variety became important in the area. Pinto beans, although less widely grown, were important in the production area surrounding Jerome, Rupert and Burley.

The introduction of improved and disease-resistant strains of these varieties by the University of Idaho has made the production of all three varieties possible throughout the entire southern Idaho dry bean growing area. There also is considerable interest in producing small white and red kidney varieties, said Bowcutt.

With beans, as with almost every other plant and animal, as we learn to control one disease, others seem to take its place. Today we are faced in the bean industry with not a new disease, but the increase of an old one. If uncontrolled it could completely destroy the seed bean industry in southern Idaho. This disease is the common bacterial blight, halo blight, bacterial blight, halo blight, fuscous blight and bacterial wilt are important diseases of beans, the causal pathogens of which are readily disseminated through infected seed stocks.

The first three are so similar in appearance under field conditions that it is not always possible to distinguish one from the other without laboratory examination.

Halo blight caused by pseudomonas phaseolicola (Burk) has resulted in total loss of individual bean fields. Since the importance of bacterial blight-free seed has been emphasized, losses have been sharply curtailed. The problem, nevertheless, remains a critical one in bean production areas where crops are subject to frequent rains during the growing season.

With the weather conditions last year and with more of the same predicted for this year the problem is a critical one for farmers in this area.

The causal organisms are carried long distances through distribution of infected seeds. Local spread may be accomplished by a number of agencies. Within a particular field infection can arise from diseased seed, from contaminated soil, or from residue of diseased bean plants from the previous season's crops.

Lesions formed by the pathogens become crusted with bacteria which under favorable conditions are easily carried to adjacent plants by driving rain, sprinkler irrigation water, hail, machinery, clothing, animals or insects. Moisture, either from rain, overhead irrigation, or dew, may be sufficient to permit infection.

Farmers are encouraged to watch for signs of this disease and report any suspicious fields to the county agricultural agent. The best and most effective way to control this disease is to have farmers work with the county agent, plant disease free seed, avoid planting beans too close in a row and by plowing under a diseased field.

Symptoms of the disease appear as water-soaked spots, later appearing as reddish brown streaks or spots. Bacterial blights are frequently surrounded by a broad chlorotic zone.

The federal crop insurance field men are working to control every farmer in southern Idaho and give them the opportunity to protect dollars invested in bean crops.

Federal crop insurance not only insures against losses from disease but also frost, rain, hail and anything else that occurs beyond the farmers' control. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are paid each year to farmers in the United States for damage to their crops.

Beans are an important crop for farmers of southern Idaho.

Farm Leader Dismisses Fall Ballot

WASHINGTON, April 24 (UPI)—A Midwest farm leader said he doesn't think that government farm programs will be a major political issue in this fall's campaigns.

The forecast came here from Fred V. Heinkel, president, Missouri Farmers association.

Heinkel indicated he did not expect much controversy over the voluntary control programs for feed and grain and wheat.

The Missourian has been a consistent supporter of the Kennedy and Johnson administration farm programs.

U. S. Revises Estimate of Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON, April 24 (UPI)—The agriculture department predicts that a winter wheat crop of 1,010,879,000 bushels will be harvested this year.

This forecast compares with production of 904,828,000 bushels of winter wheat in 1963.

The predicted 1964 winter wheat crop, added to a possible spring wheat crop of 202,000,000 would mean a total wheat crop of 1,212,879,000 this year. This compares with total wheat production of 1,137,841,000 in 1963.

The yield per planted acre was forecast at 23.5 bushels, compared with 21.5 per acre last year.

The condition of the 1964 rye crop as of April 1 was estimated at 85 per cent of normal.

Estimates were reported at 77 per cent of normal for the same date.

The indicated production of early spring potatoes was 4,362,000 hundredweight.

"Our first USS Irrigation Headgate was so easy to install we put in three more."

Alfred Nielsen, Jr.,
Partner, Nielsen Bros.
Angus Farms,
Cheraw, Colorado

"We decided to try USS galvanized steel headgates because we were tired of the bother of using canvas and a shovel. It sure saved us a lot of time and labor, so we completed our current system requirements with three more galvanized boxes."

The Nielsen brothers will find more advantages of USS Irrigation Headgates as time goes on. These gates last because they're made of galvanized steel, which won't rot or chip. USS headgates are easy to move, too.

They're made from three standard interchangeable panels that can easily be dismantled to modify or remodel your structures. Virtually any size or shape of single or multiple channeling can be built with the three panels combined with gate and chute.

Next time your system needs an overhaul or expansion, install USS Irrigation Headgates. See how easy it is. You won't have to measure and cut lumber, build forms, mix concrete, or wait for curing. With USS Irrigation Headgates, just select the site, bolt panels together, install the unit, backfill—and turn loose the water. Ask your dealer about USS Irrigation Headgates. USS is a trademark.

Idaho Sugar Chief Reports 50 Solons Urge Tonnage Boost for Beet Growers

KIMBERLY, April 24—A bi-partisan appeal to President Johnson, urging administration support for a marketing quota increase of "at least 750,000 tons" for domestic sugar beet producers, was forwarded to the White House bearing the signatures of 50 congressmen from 21 states, said J. D. Claiborn, Idaho Beet-growers association president.

The letter strongly urged that the quota increase be included in administration recommendations on sugar legislation, now being formulated for submitting to congress.

Copies of the appeal were sent to the secretaries of agriculture and state and the director of the budget bureau.

The congressmen asked for a White House conference with the President or his staff for further discussion of the beet sugar quota increase, said Claiborn.

"Such an upward revision in the beet sugar marketing quota," the letter said, "is in the national interest."

"World sugar stocks this year are even lower than last year, when the sugar crisis mentioned in your message on agriculture occurred."

"Some of the foreign countries supplying this market are of doubtful reliability because of present or potential instability. An increase of at least 750,000 tons in the basic beet sugar quota will help materially to assure ample supplies of sugar for American consumers at reasonable prices."

"Moreover, reducing our nation's dependence on foreign sugar supplies will reduce the number of dollars we send abroad and therefore will help to alleviate our nation's balance of payments problem."

The bi-partisan plea to the President said the beet sugar quota increase will also help to diminish a serious problem now confronting American sugarbeet producers, Claiborn added.

It was pointed out that last year the administration strongly urged these producers to increase their production materially, "to provide more sugar for our consumers."

"To encourage the additional capital investment required for expansion," the letter went on, "the administration announced there would be no acreage controls on sugarbeet planting in 1964 and 1965, as well as in 1963."

"Sugarbeet producers responded admirably. Not only was sugar production increased substantially, but beet sugar was marketed in the same markets at $1 to $3 per hundred pounds less than cane sugar, refined from high-priced foreign raw sugar."

"Thus sugarbeet producers contributed doubly to the welfare of consumers—providing more sugar at lower prices than foreign."

produced sugar.

"The production increase, made at the request of the administration, have, however, outstripped the beet sugar marketing quota in the present law. The beet sugar marketing quota increase we propose would bring

Water

Alfred Peters, Twin Falls Canal company manager, Friday urged parents to keep an eye on small children now that canals and irrigation ditches are filling up for the 1964 water season.

This is a dangerous time of the year because many parents don't realize that the ditches are full and they haven't thought much of water safety, he said.

REQUESTS RESUME

WASHINGTON, April 24—Requests for weekly offers of print butter were resumed by the U.S. department of agriculture in April.

the quota in line with current production levels. Without a quota increase, the letter said, sugar beet producers in 22 states "face the penalty of an acreage reduction up to 40 per cent, and of course expansion of the industry into new areas in the dire need of a non-surplus cash crop would be prohibited."

Pointing out that an accompanying statement outlining details of the industry's situation has the support of several score organizations in 27 states, the appeal to the President added: "Failure to increase the beet sugar marketing quota would have sharp repercussions in wide areas of this country."

"We are sure your sense of fairness recognizes the justice of the proposed quota increase," the congressmen wrote the President. The letter asked for a conference with President Johnson or members of the White House staff designated by him.

"We await your reply," the letter concluded.

Signers of the appeal to President Johnson included Reps. Ralph Harding and Compton I. White, both D., Idaho.

CORWIN SILVA, North Shoshone farmer, examines trefoil planting on his farm in north Shoshone. The plant is a cascade variety of birdsfoot trefoil, planted last year.

Values of Trefoil for Grazing Are Pointed Out by Shoshone Area Farmer

SHOSHONE, April 24—With planting time just around the corner, officials at the Wood River soil and water conservation district here issue favorable information regarding trefoil.

Corwin Silva, North Shoshone farmer, seeded a field of the cascade variety of birdsfoot trefoil last year, from which he hopes to harvest seed this year.

About the time he seeded his field last year, he put one of the seeds in a small flower pot. The seed grew, and Silva brought his trefoil plant with him to the board of supervisors meeting April 1, exhibiting a plant 18 to 24 inches tall, in bloom for several weeks now. The second growth is 12 inches high and is ready to bloom again.

It has grown in the house all winter, having received little sunlight. However, in spite of the handicap, it gives a picture of the possibilities of this legume.

Trefoil will not bloom an animal, officials at the SOS state, and it will produce as much forage as ladino clover. It has value in mixtures with later orchard grass. Cattle and sheep can be turned onto a later orchard grass and trefoil pasture in the spring without fear of bloat.

The seed is somewhat expensive. Silva has a field of unknown variety of trefoil which has been used as hay and pasture since 1960. He said the legume is winter hardy and will survive most of the winters in this country.

Range Tour Is Planned At Shoshone

SHOSHONE, April 24—A tour of range and grassland in Lincoln county and portions of surrounding counties will be conducted about June 20. Definite date will be announced later. One of the first problems which must be solved is the arrangement for a meal prepared and served out in the open.

Wood River soil and water conservation district will sponsor the tour, and organizations or individuals interested in serving a good meal in the open are requested to contact the district office at Shoshone. There will be around 150 persons on the tour, judging from past tours.

Assisting with the tour will be the extension service, Farmers' home administration and agricultural stabilization and conservation service.

Officials in charge state the range grasses should be in good condition this year.

Inspection Of Wheat for Export Rises

WASHINGTON, April 24 (UPI)—The agricultural marketing service said a record 83 million bushels of wheat were inspected for export during March.

This was nearly 14 million bushels more than in February and almost 11 million bushels more than the old record set in May, 1963.

AMS said total export inspections from July, 1963, through March, 1964, now total 633 million bushels. This is 200 million bushels more than during the same period a year earlier.

AMS said about 73 per cent of the total wheat export inspections, or 60.7 million bushels, were destined for six countries—the Soviet Union, India, Japan, Poland, the United Arab Republic, and The Netherlands.
